

ASBU for Future GmbH (A4F) is a newly formed but developing company focusing on the transition to the implementation of the Aviation System Block Upgrades (ASBU) as described in the Global Air Navigation Plan - GANP (Doc 9750-AN/673) of the International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO). Transition from AIS to AIM, Performance Based Navigation, Aeronautical Databases, and Aeronautical Data Processes are key elements of the consultancy, research, and implementation support activities of A4F, to all civil and military stakeholders in this emerging market.

OPEN POSITION

Internship for IT Services & Operations.

JOB LOCATION

Uhltingen-Mühlhofen, Lake Constance County, Germany

EMPLOYMENT TYPE

40 hours per week for six months.

Internship IT Operations & Integration f/m

Job Description & Responsibilities

As an undergraduate in Computer Science with knowledge and initial experience you will be responsible for the following work areas:

After a familiarization phase you will work autonomously in coordination with your supervisor on the following projects:

- migration of existing enterprise applications into a state of the art containerized cluster
- provisioning and maintenance of the containerized cluster
- integration of project management application with the company's accounting software
- aiding in optimization of the company's internal processes through using scripting for automation and integration

Detailed job description can be made available on request.

As an ideal candidate you have

- experience in Linux administration (ideally BASH and ANSIBLE)
- ability to identify requirements and
- good communication skills in verbal and written English
- language such as German would be an advantage.

REMUNERATION According to skills and experience.

Contact Us

CONTACT Mrs Monica Vlad

E-MAIL recruiting@a4f.aero

PHONE +49 7556 4521 78 8

WEB www.asbu4future.aero

THERE IS A WAY TO DO IT BETTER. (Thomas A. Edison)